InSequence is an expanding small business specializing in proven engineering best practices and new cutting edge innovation to provide customers with cost effective solutions to address complex, mission critical challenges. Established since 1999, InSequence has maintained a workforce specializing in Systems Engineering/Integration, Software Development, IT engineering solutions, and Project Management. InSequence is an employee owned company focused on our employees by paying 100% of insurance premiums, providing annual profit sharing, and social events to foster relationships between coworkers, customers, partners, and the community.

As a result of recent contract awards and our completed office renovation InSequence is hosting a hiring event at both of our office locations. We are looking to expand our Software Supply Chain and Cyber-Focused Software Management service lines, and are looking for motivated candidates in all technical fields such as system engineers, system administrators, project management, etc. in addition to candidates that have experience in:

- Software application development & web development
- Software application packaging and virtualization
- Cyber operations

We are ready to hire a surge of applicants and will be conducting on site interviews. Refreshments will be available.
